*The Aircraft Airworthiness & Sustainment Conference
The Propulsion Safety & Sustainment Conference*

A SPECIAL INVITATION TO OUR SIBR COMMUNITY

The Propulsion Safety and Sustainment (PS&S) Conference, formerly the Propulsion - Safety and Affordable Readiness (P-SAR) Conference, has held a prominent position in the United States' Propulsion Community. It is the signature event for high level technology exchange and networking among the top researchers, program managers and engineers across government, industry and academia. We encourage you to take advantage of the exposure your small business can receive from this community by participating as an exhibitor. The exhibits will extend the message of both conferences and allows valuable exchange with the attendees from PS&S and the Aircraft Airworthiness & Sustainment (AA&S) Conference that will be gathering in the same Exhibit Hall. At this time, we have commitments from DoD, AFRL, FAA and NASA to exhibit and provide insight into what programs are going on now and in the future for their specific agency.

This is the only turbine engine specific conference scheduled in the United States to focus on R&D. This combination will bring your company in touch with well over 500 of the decision makers in this arena. The Exhibit Hall will be the gathering spot for 3 breaks every meeting day, two networking group luncheons, as well as the opening night Exhibitor's Reception. The Exhibit Hall is expected to sell out early so make your plans to participate!

The Organizing Committees for PS&S and AA&S realize the important role that SIBRs play in today's technology. We also realize that participating as an Exhibitor is an investment that can be challenging for a small business. We want SIBR companies represented at these conferences this year and for the future. Therefore, we are offering any exhibit space to qualified SBIR companies at a 50% discount ($1,275) to help make the decision to exhibit more affordable. You will be provided the same quality service by the Planning Committee at UTC with handling all of your requirements to have a successful exhibit. You will be allowed to bring two staff members to run your exhibit at no additional charge. Networking time will occur in the Exhibit Hall during all daily coffee breaks, two networking group luncheons and 2 receptions I hope you will take a moment and visit the PS&S website at www.pssconference.com and the AA&S website at www.aasconference.com and view all of the exciting information pertaining to participating as an exhibitor and an attendee. Attached to this is a layout of the Exhibit Hall for PS&S and AA&S. I would encourage you to sign up early to get your space and maximize the advertising you will receive on the conference websites as a participant.

When you make the decision to exhibit, please contact Jill Jennewine at jjennewine@utcd Dayton.com to get instructions on registering at the reduced price being offered only to SBIR companies. Also, please contact Jill Jennewine if you need any additional information regarding either conference.
